

HUMAN RIGHTS - CIVIL RIGHTS #1

Key Constitutional Concepts: A Conversation - 342.73 KEY - Summary from www.annebergclassroom.org, September 12, 2006. "Sunnylands seminars: The judicial branch"--Container cover. Part one: Creating a constitution. Part two: One man changes the Constitution: Gideon v. Wainwright. Part three: Checks and balances; Youngstown v. Sawyer. "This documentary begins by introducing the Constitution and why it was created. It then examines key Constitutional concepts: separation of powers and individual rights. By focusing on two landmark cases: Youngstown v. Sawyer, a challenge to President Truman's decision to put the steel mills under government control, and Gideon v. Wainwright, in which the Supreme Court establishes the right to be represented by an attorney." "Subtitled in English and Spanish"--Container. Closed captioned in English.

Shut Up & Sing: Dixie Chicks - 781.64 SHU - 2006 production. Interviews with Natalie Maines, Emily Robison, Martie Maguire, Rick Rubin, Simon Renshaw. "Follow the Dixie Chicks, the top selling female band of all-time, through the now infamous anti-Bush comment made by the groups lead singer Natalie Maines in 2003. Follow the lives and careers of the Dixie Chicks over a period of three years during which they were under political attack and received death threats, while continuing to live their lives, have children, and make country music. At a time when the United States is fighting for democracy and freedom in another country, it raises questions about our own right to freedom of speech and the negative consequences it sometimes has." Rated "R" for language. English and Spanish subtitles, closed captioned.

Stop Bullying! Standing Up for Yourself and Others - 371.58 STO - Presented by Mark Brown, Youth Motivational Specialist. Using his own childhood as an example of someone who was bullied, he speaks about bullying to thousands of kids each year and teaches about the importance of tolerance and respect.

{The} Supreme Court #1 One Nation Under Law - 347.73 SUP - Also known as the "court of last resort", nine judges appointed for a term of their lifetimes make decisions that influence our every day lives. As the ultimate opinion on interpreting our Constitution, this series shows its every day workings. The history of the court is presented from its very inception through the Civil War and more.

Unforgivable Blackness, The Rise And Fall of Jack Johnson - 796.83 UNF - Narrated by Keith David with Samuel L. Jackson as the voice of Jack Johnson. This is the true story of the first African- American boxer, his rise to the coveted title and his struggle with his success and his fall. In two parts, the story goes from his Texas beginnings as a son of former slaves to his entry into the brutality of boxing. He fought his way through Jim Crow standards and going up the ranks of a white sport to Heavyweight Champion of the World in 1908. When the white boxing establishment couldn't knock him down, the courts went after him for various reasons to destroy his life. He kept winning and chose to live life on his own terms.

Waiting for Superman - 370.97 WAI - This is a look at public education from the point of view of politicians, parents, and children. What is happening to our kids as they go through the system and how do their skills rate? Why can't things change and what is the answer? Rated "PG".

{The} Waiting Room - 362.18 WAI - 2012. Contents Introduction -- Triage -- The run around -- No space -- Trauma team -- Hard times -- Musical beds -- Waiting game -- The lost one -- Last resort -- End of shift -- Another day. "A character-driven documentary film that goes behind the doors of an American public hospital struggling to care for a community of largely uninsured patients. Young victims of gun violence take their turn alongside artists and small business owners who lack insurance. The film weaves the stories of several patients-as well as the hospital staff charged with caring for them-as they cope with the complexity of the nation's public health care system, while dealing with a national recession." Closed-captioned. Awards Awards Winner: Independent Spirit Awards, Truer Than Fiction.