Policy Section 2.1.7 Budgeting Policy and Procedures

Date proposed: January 9, 2007

Date Adopted: June 12, 2007

Date Implemented: June 12, 2007

2.1.7 Budgeting

If the claimant is incapacitated from verifying, presenting, and filing the claim in the time prescribed or if the claimant is a minor, or is a nonresident of the state absent there from during the time within which the claim is required to be filed, the claim may be verified, presented, and filed on behalf of the claimant by any relative, attorney, or agent representing the claimant.

Policy Section 3 Collection Development, Selection of Materials

Date proposed:

Date adopted: June 12, 2007

Date Implemented: June 12, 2007

Date Amended:

3.0 COLLECTION DEVELOPMENT POLICY

3.1.0 Objectives

It is the goal of the Lopez Island Library to provide to all the people in its service area free and convenient access to the world of ideas, information and creative experience. To achieve this goal, the Library provides both print and non-print materials and actively promotes their use.

It is the Library's intention to develop a collection based on policies of inclusion rather than exclusion and on objective standards rather than personal opinion. It is the library's task to provide material that will enable people to form their own opinions. Every attempt is made to strike a balance between collecting materials according to their value and collecting materials according to demand.

Wishing to promote freedom and diversity in the pursuit of knowledge and understanding, the Library incorporates as a part of this policy the LIBRARY BILL OF RIGHTS and the supporting INTELLECTUAL FREEDOM STATEMENT, adopted by the American Library Association (attached).

3.1.2 Responsibility

Authority for the development of the collection rests with the Library Board through its role of setting and interpreting policy. The responsibility for collection development, under that policy, rests with the Library Director.

3.1.2 Guidelines

- A. The Library service area contains a diverse and varied population. An effort must be maintained to collect materials suitable in form, level, style and subject content to meet the needs of this diverse population. The Library must be responsive to the constant changes and developments occurring in the community and within the field of communications as a whole. The Library must strive to collect materials in anticipation of the future needs of the community, including the needs of the non-user.
- B. As a tax-supported information agency, the Library, with limited funds but with the entire community as its constituency, has the responsibility to coordinate

- access to information throughout the community. As such, it will take into account the various materials collections that already exist in order to avoid unnecessary duplication and to assure the broadest possible access.
- C. Responsibility for curriculum-related materials belongs properly to the school. The Library will provide materials that supplement and enrich the reference, research and recreational needs of students and faculty.
- D. The size of the island's population makes it unrealistic to provide and maintain a special collection of materials specifically geared for the use of visually impaired and physically handicapped persons and this is entrusted to the Washington Talking Book and Braille Library. The Library will assist people with their applications for free service from the WTBBL and will utilize that library for securing changing collections of large print materials to have on hand. It will also attempt to develop its collection of books on tape, cassettes and videos captioned for the hearing impaired so that there will be an expansion of those materials of particular use to the disabled, which can also be of use to the community as a whole.
- E. The Library will make every attempt to answer all requests for information, to secure every title and/or to secure material on any subject asked of it. However, investment in bibliographic utilities such as WLN has made it unnecessary, wasteful and self-defeating to attempt to fill all needs from a collection housed on the premises. Interlibrary loan and other resources are to be relied upon for subjects rarely called for and for titles of limited use.
- F. Each piece of material must be considered in terms of its own kind of excellence and the audience for whom it is intended. There is no single standard which can be applied in all cases when making an acquisitions decision. Some materials may be judged primarily in terms of artistic merit or scholarship, others are selected to satisfy the recreational and entertainment needs of the community.
- G. To build collections of useful and lasting significance, materials will be considered according to certain guidelines used as objectively as possible. All acquisitions, whether purchased or donated, are considered in terms of the following:
- Relation to the existing collection and other materials available on the subject.
 - Suitability of physical forms for library use.
 - Present and potential relevance to community needs.
 - Attention of critics, reviewers, and the public.
 - Appropriateness and effectiveness of the medium to content.
 - Skill, competence and purpose of the author.
 - Local demand.

3.1.3 Organizational Structure.

The structure of the library is also a factor in collection development. Budget, space, the content of the present collection, and the organizational structure of the library, including cooperative relationships, must be taken into account. An emphasis is placed on quality rather than quantity of materials purchased, keeping in mind that a balance must be struck between the value of materials and the demand for materials. The content of the present collection is constantly being reviewed so that gaps in subjects and format may be filled, replacement of old or outdated materials may take place, and unnecessary duplication may be avoided. Materials considered no longer of value are removed from the collection and sold to benefit the Library.

4.3 Interlibrary Loan Requests

4.3.1 Interlibrary loan forms an integral part of the District's service to the community. Because of the limited size of the District's collection, the use of interlibrary loan is accepted as affording a practical means of satisfying patron information needs. - The District will not borrow current year fiction except at the discretion of the Library Director.
- The District will not borrow mass market paperbacks unless such material is out-of-print and/or does not fit within the established selection policy.
- The district will not borrow fiction videos and DVDs.
- The district will not borrow items for patrons with records blocked due to lost or overdue items.

4.3.2 Interlibrary loan requests represent a substantial investment in terms of library staff time and actual postage costs. Requests over this four transaction limit should be discussed with the library Director.

4.3.3 There will be a $2.00 charge per fulfilled item for patrons using the interlibrary loan services to cover average postage costs. If the lending library makes a specific charge to lend books, the patron will be informed of the charge. 5.4.2 Public liability: No work will be accepted that creates unsafe conditions or factors that may bear on public liability.

5.4.3 In all cases, consideration must be given to material and construction which are durable and do not increase the insurance, repairs, and maintenance capabilities of the library's normal ongoing operational budget.

5.4.4 Art works cannot interfere with the operation or performance of library functions and must not obstruct public circulation, ingress, egress or safety.

5.4.5 The Lopez Island Library District Board of Trustees reserves the right to move and relocate art work in the event of building remodeling, to expose the work to a larger audience in the community, or for any other reason it deems necessary.

5.4.6 In the case of gifts or donations, the donor's conditions may affect acceptance or rejection of the gift.

5.4.7 All appraisals are the responsibility of the artist/donor.

Typically persons and entities so honored might have played a prominent role in the historical development or continued evolution of the library or been associated with a particular library program or part of the collection.

Policy Section 7.0 Qualifications, Responsibilities, Hiring, and Evaluation of Employees

Date Adopted: November 20, 2007
Date Implemented: November 20, 2007
Date Amended: December 17, 2015

7.1.0 Recruiting and Hiring

- A. When recruiting to fill a new or vacated position, the Lopez Island Library District will seek the person whose all-around skills and experience provide the best match for the needs of the position. The Library Director (or Board of Trustees, when recruiting a new Director) will use whatever means are appropriate to recruit qualified applicants for the job vacancy in compliance with equal opportunity and other federal and state employment laws and guidelines.

The Library District encourages promoting qualified candidates from within the existing Library staff when a staff member's skills and experience match the needs of the new or vacated position. To give existing staff ample opportunity to apply, the open position will be posted internally for a period of one week before recruitment is extended to external candidates. Should the Library District choose an outside candidate to fill the position, the Library Director or Board of Trustees shall notify internal candidates in writing of the hiring decision and the rationale behind the selection.

- B. Announcements of position vacancies should include the title of the open position, a brief description of the position's minimum and/or preferred qualifications, the position's principal duties, the compensation and benefits associated with the position, and the place and manner of filing applications.
- C. Each applicant shall complete and submit a resume prior to being considered for any position.
- D. Any applicant who knowingly has supplied false or misleading information may be subject to immediate termination, if hired.
- E. The Library Director will establish procedures for selecting the best-qualified candidate from a pool of internal and/or external applicants for an open position. Selection criteria will be designed to measure each applicant's qualifications, experience and ability to perform the duties and responsibilities for the open position against the job requirements for that position. The Library Board of Trustees will have access to all candidate job applications and the candidate selection procedure results.
- F. The Library Director will screen applicants, conduct preliminary interviews and check references; other staff may be included in the interview phase of the process.

- G. The Library Director will submit the top three candidate evaluations and a hiring recommendation to the Library Board of Trustees. The Director and the Board of Trustees will make a hiring decision from among the top three candidates.
- H. The Library Board of Trustees will be responsible for recruiting and hiring the Library Director.
- I. All newly hired employees are subject to a 90-day probationary period. Unsatisfactory job performance during this time period may result in termination without further review.
- J. Employment at the Library is “at will.” This means that employment for any position is of indefinite duration with no attainment of permanent employment status. “At will” employment also means that either the employee or the Library Board of Trustees is free to terminate the employment relationship at any time and for any reason that does not violate federal or state laws and regulations against discrimination or retaliation. Any verbal or written statements or assurances issued by a Library trustee, the Library Director, or another Library employee that contradict this policy of employment “at will” are neither authorized nor legally valid. No one except the Board of Trustees has the authority to bind the Library District to an agreement that conflicts with this policy and any such agreement must be in writing and signed, or formally endorsed by a vote of the Board of Trustees.

Policy Section 7.2 Evaluations

Date Proposed: January 9, 2007

Date Adopted: February 13, 2007

Date Implemented: June 12, 2007

Date Amended: December 17, 2015

7.2.0 Evaluations

Performance evaluations are designed to provide an employee with a record of his/her performance and to encourage professional growth. All employees of the Library District will be evaluated not less than once each year. This will constitute the "regular annual evaluation." Other evaluations may be undertaken as they are deemed needed by the Library Director or Board of Trustees (in the case of the Library Director).

The evaluating body for the Library Director is the Library Board of Trustees. The evaluator for all other employees is the Library Director.

7.2.1 Evaluation of Library Director

A. Regular annual evaluation

The regular annual evaluation of the Library Director will be an evaluation of the Library Director's performance based on the Library Director's job description and a determination of how successfully the Library Director has achieved specific goals and objectives.

1. The evaluation may include a self-appraisal by the Library Director and may reference the Library's long-term plan, patron surveys, and/or other relevant planning instruments.
2. In assessing the Director's strengths in the context of supervisory duties, the Board of Trustees may invite comments from Library employees, which would be shared with the Library Director during the evaluation.
3. The evaluation will include the establishment of goals or objectives for the Library Director for the coming year. All goals and objectives shall be developed in consultation with the Library Director and shall be formally adopted in written form by the Board of Trustees.
4. The evaluation will also specifically note any deficiencies or weaknesses recorded in previous evaluations and will note whether or how well those deficiencies or weaknesses have been or are being corrected.
5. The evaluation may be undertaken at a regular Board of Trustees meeting or at a special meeting called for that purpose and may continue into subsequent meetings.

6. At the request of the Library Director or any Trustee, and with the concurrence of the Library Director as required by the Washington Open Meetings Act, the Board shall vote as to whether all or portions of the evaluation will be held in executive session, to the extent permitted by the Open Meetings Act.
7. The Board of Trustees will appoint a person or persons to summarize the evaluation in writing. The summary will specifically include primary accomplishments, successes, strengths, and improvements noted by the Board as well as any deficiencies that were noted to be corrected. That summary, when adopted by the Board of Trustees, will be the formal statement of the evaluation. A copy of the summary will be furnished to the Library Director and to each Trustee. If the Library Director believes any portion of the evaluation to be inaccurate or unfair, s/he may submit a written statement to that effect to the Board of Trustees that shall be made a part of the Director's personnel record.

B. Other evaluations

An evaluation other than the annual evaluation may be held at the request of the Library Director, or by action of the Board of Trustees through a motion duly made, seconded, and adopted. The call for such an evaluation will state whether the process will be the same as for the annual evaluation, or, if not, what evaluation process will be used.

7.2.2 Evaluation of other staff

- A. All employees other than the Library Director will be evaluated by the Library Director. Performance evaluations for regular employees shall be related to the position that the employee holds at the time. The purpose of the appraisal is to commend strengths and achievements, address weaknesses, suggest ways to improve, and discuss new challenges, career goals, and objectives.
- B. Each employee shall receive a regular annual evaluation and such other evaluations as may be necessary or appropriate. The scheduling of the annual evaluation shall be at the discretion of the Library Director.
 1. The Library Director may use consultants, advisors, or other persons to assist in the evaluation process.
 2. The evaluation may include a self-appraisal and will address such factors as the employee's contribution toward the Library's long-term goals and current year objectives, career and work goals, training, staff interaction and job satisfaction.

3. The Library Director will prepare a written statement of the evaluation, which shall be signed by the employee to indicate his/her understanding of the comments. This statement shall be the formal record of the evaluation and shall be placed in the employee's personnel file. A copy shall be given to the employee. An employee's signature on the evaluation statement will not necessarily imply agreement with the content of the statement.
 4. If any employee believes the evaluation to be inaccurate or unfair, s/he may submit a written statement to the Library Director that shall be made a part of the employee's personnel file, and may choose to send a copy of the statement to the Library Board of Trustees.
 5. The Library Board of Trustees will have access to all employee evaluation records.
- C. Any employee may request to inspect the documents in his/her personnel file. The Library Director shall arrange a mutually convenient time for the inspection.

7.2.3 Workplace Evaluations

Annually, the Library Director, in concert with the Board of Trustees, shall conduct an anonymous online survey of employees and volunteers to assess their level of satisfaction with working conditions at the Library. The survey may consist of generic multiple choice questions concerning various aspects of the Library workspace, such as physical conditions, patron/staff interactions, access to and support by the Library Director and Board of Trustees, employee benefits, employee relations, and job satisfaction. The Library Director may use consultants, advisors, or other persons to assist in the evaluation process. Employees and volunteers may raise concerns about the workplace without fear of reprisal.

Policy Section 7.3 Employee Relations

Date Proposed: January 9, 2007

Date Adopted: February 13, 2007

Date Implemented: June 12, 2007

Date Amended: December 17, 2015

7.3.0 Employee Relations

The continued success of the Library is dependent upon staff members working effectively together in an atmosphere of mutual understanding, respect, cooperation, and trust. The Library Board of Trustees shall ensure that Library policies and resources support a workplace environment that enables staff members to work to the best of their ability within the framework, practices and capabilities of the Library.

7.3.1 Resolving Issues or Complaints

- A. At one time or another, staff members may become concerned about their work situation, or feel that they have not been treated fairly or in accordance with Library policies and procedures. When such an occasion arises an employee may use the following process for resolving an issue or complaint.
- B. The purpose of the process is to allow for issues or complaints to be addressed and ultimately resolved in a constructive and respectful manner that upholds morale and positive working relationships among the entire Library staff.
- C. Nothing in this section should be construed as contradicting the policy of employment “at will” as described in Section 7.1.J of this policy manual.
 1. Step One
The staff member shall take up the issue with the Library Director as the first step in the process. The Library Director is responsible for assuring that the staff member receives fair treatment. The issue in question should be discussed honestly and sincerely and every effort should be made by both the staff member and the Library Director to give the question proper consideration leading to a satisfactory solution. The Library Director will make every effort to resolve the question as soon as possible and will keep the staff member informed as to the status of the issue.
 2. Step Two
If Step One does not result in a satisfactory resolution of the issue, the employee may request a meeting with the Library Director and the Chair of the Library Board of Trustees (or the Chair’s designee). These three individuals will give their attention to the issue in question and attempt to find a satisfactory solution.

3. Step Three

If Step Two does not result in a satisfactory resolution of the issue, or if any of the parties wishes to involve the full Board of Trustees in reaching resolution, the issue will be taken up at the next regularly scheduled Board of Trustees meeting or at a special meeting called for the purpose. At the meeting the Board will meet in executive session with the Library Director and employee. A final decision or resolution will result from this meeting.

- D. No staff member shall be subjected to adverse treatment for raising concerns or participating in any part of the problem resolution process.

7.3.2 Employee Rules of Conduct Defined

- A. The following behaviors and activities will not be tolerated by any employee and will be cause for corrective action, up to and including termination of employment depending on the severity of the infraction. This is not an exhaustive list, and does not limit the ability of the Library District to discipline and/or terminate an employee for any reason that complies with federal and state laws and regulations against discrimination and retaliation.
- B. Abusive verbal or physical conduct toward a fellow staff member, volunteer staff member, supervisor or Library patron.
- C. Failure to carry out work-related instructions given by a supervisor.
- D. Willful violation of Library policies, regulations and rules specified in this policy or otherwise specified officially, including abuse of personal/sick leave.
- E. Falsification of Library records and reports, including time records.
- F. Malicious or careless acts that result in personal injury, property damage or expenses.
- G. Impairment of ability to work as a result of abusive or negligent behavior regarding alcoholic beverages, prescription medications or narcotics.
- H. Unauthorized use, possession, removal, neglect or willful damage to any Library property or equipment such as telephones, computer terminals, or materials, etc.
- I. Failure to report an on-the-job accident, injury, or unusual incident involving patrons and/or Library facilities to a supervisor or the Library Director immediately.
- J. Unauthorized distribution of literature or solicitation of staff members or volunteer staff members on Library premises during work time.

- K. Failure to report to work for three consecutive days without proper notification to the Library.
- L. Failure to observe safety policies and procedures.
- M. Excessive absenteeism or tardiness, continuing after supervisory counseling.
- N. Violation of the Library District's Non-Discrimination and Anti-Harassment policies.

7.3.3 Suspension

In certain instances, the Library Director may initiate an investigation to determine the validity of facts surrounding a potential disciplinary situation. In such cases, with the prior approval of the Board of Trustees, an employee may be suspended with pay pending the results of the investigation. The Library Director will apprise the Board of the results of the investigation.

7.3.4 Progressive Corrective Action

The Library Board of Trustees places a high value on helping employees to achieve their greatest potential during their employment with the Library. This includes, when possible, helping an employee to improve unsatisfactory performance or conduct rather than terminating the employee.

- A. Should a staff member's performance or conduct fail to meet the high standards required by the Library, the Library Director may choose to follow a course of Progressive Corrective Action to help bring the employee's performance to satisfactory levels and avoid recurrence. In the case of the Library Director, Progressive Corrective Action may be initiated by the Library Board of Trustees. When an employee maintains performance and conduct at a satisfactory level, the process also provides that references to the unsatisfactory performance or behavior can be expunged from the employee's personnel record. Progressive Corrective Action can include the following steps:
 1. Verbal Notification: The staff member may be notified verbally by the Library Director/Board of Trustees of the need for correction of an unacceptable trend in performance or conduct. Verbal notifications will be documented in the staff member's personnel file and the employee will receive notice of such documentation. If the staff member's performance or conduct is maintained at an acceptable level for one year following the date a verbal notification was given, the documentation of the verbal notification will be removed from the staff member's personnel file. The employee will be informed in writing of the removal.

2. Written Notification: Should a staff member's unsatisfactory performance or conduct not improve following verbal notification, a Need for Performance Improvement notice may be issued to the staff member by the Library Director/Board of Trustees. A copy shall be placed in the staff member's personnel file. In the event the staff member's performance or conduct has been maintained at an acceptable level for up to three (3) years following the date that the Need of Performance Improvement was issued, the form shall be removed from the staff member's personnel file. The employee will be informed in writing of the removal.
 3. Termination: In the event a staff member's inadequate performance or conduct does not improve, the staff member's employment may be terminated by the Board of Trustees with a recommendation from the Library Director. Termination is governed by Section 7.4 of this policy manual.
- B. In certain circumstances—for example, behavior that could be construed as serious misconduct or an endangerment to staff, patrons, or Library property—the Library Director may dismiss or remove a staff member from the premises without prior notification or engaging in Progressive Corrective Action. This means that the Library Director, or a staff supervisor designated by the Library Director, may, in such cases, dismiss a staff member without first providing verbal or written notification of the staff member's inadequate performance or conduct. The Library Director must document the circumstances and, as soon as possible, present the situation to the Library Board of Trustees with a recommendation for termination or other action. The employee will be suspended with pay pending action by the Board.

7.3.5 Employee Safeguards

All Library employees shall be able to voice concerns about their employment or workplace environment to a supervisor without fear of harassment, retribution, or consequences to job security. Such concerns should be expressed in appropriate circumstances and in a constructive manner, utilizing the procedures for resolving issues and complaints detailed in Section 7.3.1 when required.

7.3.6 Non-Discrimination

It is the policy of Lopez Island Library District to grant equal opportunity to all qualified persons without regard to age, national/ethnic origin, gender, sexual orientation, marital status, religion, disability, or other characteristic protected by federal or state law. Equal opportunity shall be provided in employment, promotions, wages, benefits, and all other privileges, terms, and conditions of employment.

- A. Consistent with its commitment to equal employment opportunity, the Library District will provide reasonable accommodation to qualified employees with a disability if the reasonable accommodation would allow the individual to perform the essential functions of the job, unless doing so would create an undue hardship or a direct threat to the health or safety of others. An employee who would like to request reasonable accommodation should contact the Library Director, who will work with the employee (and his/her health care provider, as needed) to evaluate the need for reasonable accommodation and options for providing reasonable accommodation.
- B. Retaliation against an individual who reports conduct that s/he believes constitutes discrimination, or against an individual who provides information in connection with a complaint of discrimination, is strictly prohibited. Retaliation can be in the form of harassment or denial of promotions, wages, benefits, or any other privileges, terms, and conditions of employment.
- C. Any employee who believes s/he has been subjected to retaliation is encouraged to bring any such incidents to the immediate attention of the Library Director or the Chair of the Library Board of Trustees.
- D. An employee found to have engaged in retaliatory conduct in violation of this policy will be subject to immediate discipline up to and including termination.

7.3.7 Anti-Harassment

- A. The Lopez Island Library will not tolerate harassment of any kind made by employees or volunteers toward co-workers or members of the public. Harassment means verbal or physical conduct that demeans or shows hostility or aversion toward another employee, volunteer, or member of the public based on that individual's age, national/ethnic origin, gender, sexual orientation, marital status, religion, disability, or other trait associated with a protected classification; or that seriously alarms, annoys or distresses a specific individual. Harassment can be repetitious or a series of acts over a period of time, however short, evidencing continuity of purpose. (See RCW 10.14 Harassment for definitions of unlawful harassment.)
- B. Conduct prohibited by this policy includes, but is not limited to, the following:
 - 1. Unsolicited and offensive comments (verbal or written) about an individual's age, national/ethnic origin, gender, sexual orientation, marital status, religion, disability, or other trait associated with a protected classification.
 - 2. Unsolicited and offensive gestures relating to an individual's age, national/ethnic origin, gender, sexual orientation, marital status, religion, disability, or other trait associated with a protected classification.

3. The display of objects or pictures that cast in a negative light an individual's age, national/ethnic origin, gender, sexual orientation, marital status, religion, disability, or other trait associated with a protected classification.
 4. Any other unsolicited and offensive conduct relating to an individual's age, national/ethnic origin, gender, sexual orientation, marital status, religion, disability, or other trait, associated with a protected classification. In the case of sexual harassment, this includes unsolicited and offensive sexual flirtations, advances, or propositions; unwelcome comments, jokes, and suggestions; non-verbal behavior such as suggestive looks or leering; and unwanted physical contact.
 5. Expressly or implicitly conditioning a term or condition of an individual's employment on his or her submission to any of the above described conduct.
 6. Basing employment decisions on an individual's submission to or rejection of any of the above-described conduct.
- C. Any employee who believes s/he has been subjected to harassment is encouraged to bring any such incidents to the immediate attention of the Library Director or the Chair of the Library Board of Trustees.
- D. An employee found to have engaged in harassment in violation of this policy will be subject to immediate discipline up to and including termination.
- E. Retaliation against an individual who reports conduct that s/he believes constitutes harassment, or against an individual who provides information in connection with a complaint of harassment, is strictly prohibited. Retaliation can be in the form of harassment or denial of promotions, wages, benefits, or any other privileges, terms, and conditions of employment.
- F. Any employee who believes s/he has been subjected to retaliation is encouraged to bring any such incidents to the immediate attention of the Library Director or the Chair of the Library Board of Trustees.
- G. An employee found to have engaged in retaliatory conduct in violation of this policy will be subject to immediate discipline up to and including termination.

Policy Section 7.4 Termination
Date Proposed: January 9, 2007
Date Adopted: February 13, 2007
Date Implemented: June 12, 2007
Date Amended: December 17, 2015

7.4 Termination

7.4.1 Termination of Library Employees

Employment by the Library is “at will” for an indefinite period and there is no attainment of permanent employment status (Section 7.1.J of this policy manual). Employment can be ended for any reason that does not violate federal and state laws against discrimination and retaliation, including but not limited to: lack of work, lack of funds, reorganization, unsatisfactory performance, or unsatisfactory conduct as determined by the Library Board of Trustees with a recommendation from the Library Director.

Termination is to occur as provided below:

- A. Termination by the Board of Trustees for lack of work, lack of funds, or reorganization.

If a staff member’s employment is terminated for any of these reasons, the Board of Trustees will provide the staff member with 30 days written notice of the termination. Alternatively, the Board may, at its option, discharge the staff member immediately and pay salary or wages and benefits as if the staff member were fully employed until the end of the notice period.

1. Severance Pay. A staff member discharged for lack of work, lack of funds, or reorganization will receive, in addition to all earned pay and all accrued vacation, severance pay equal to one month’s salary, provided the notice of termination is given after the first anniversary of the staff member’s date of hire. If the notice of termination is given on or before the first anniversary of the staff member’s date of hire, the staff member shall receive all earned pay and all allowable accrued vacation, but no severance pay.
2. Nothing in this section shall prevent the Board of Trustees from granting severance pay to a departing employee who is discharged for reasons not listed in this section if, in the Board’s judgment, severance pay is warranted.

- B. Termination by the Board of Trustees for Any Other Reason.

1. If a staff member’s employment is terminated for any reason other than lack of work, lack of funds, or reorganization, no advance notice need be provided by the Board of Trustees. Upon termination, the staff member will receive all earned pay and allowable accrued vacation.

2. A staff member discharged for any reason other than lack of work, lack of funds, or reorganization is not automatically entitled to severance pay. However, severance pay may be granted if, in the judgment of the Board of Trustees, severance pay is warranted based upon the staff member's exceptional performance and service to the Library.

C. Resignation by Staff Member.

A staff member may resign at any time and for any reason.

1. As a courtesy to the Library District, notification of resignation is requested a minimum of two (2) weeks prior to the final day of employment.
2. A staff member who resigns will receive all earned pay, allowable accrued vacation and 25 percent of accrued personal leave, up to a maximum of 22.5 days.
3. The staff member will not receive severance pay.

Policy Section 7.5 Reporting Improper Governmental Action

Date Proposed: January 9, 2007

Date Adopted: February 13, 2007

Date Implemented: June 12, 2007

Date Amended: December 17, 2015

7.5.0 Reporting Improper Governmental Action

- A. In accordance with RCW 42.41, Local Government Whistleblower Protection, it is the policy of the Lopez Island Library District:
 - 1. to encourage library employees to report improper governmental action taken by Lopez Island Library Trustees or other employees, and
 - 2. to protect Lopez Island Library employees who have reported improper actions in accordance with the Lopez Island Library's policies and procedures.
- B. As defined by RCW 42.41, "improper governmental action" means any action by a Library Trustee or employee undertaken in the performance of official duties that violates federal, state, or local law or rule or constitutes an abuse of authority, endangerment of public health or safety, or gross waste of public funds.
- C. "Improper governmental action" does not include personnel actions including employee grievances, complaints, appointments, promotions, transfers, assignments, reassignments, reinstatements, restorations, re-employment, performance evaluations, reductions in pay, dismissals, suspensions, demotions, violations of collective bargaining or civil service laws, alleged violations of labor agreements or reprimands.
- D. Library District employees who become aware of improper governmental action should bring the matter to the attention of the Library Director or, if the matter involves the Library Director, to the Chair of the Board of Trustees. If requested by the Library Director or Board of Trustees, the employee shall submit a written report stating in detail the basis for the employee's belief that an improper governmental action has occurred. Should the report be given to legal authorities for investigation, those involved in the investigation shall keep the identity of reporting employees confidential to the extent possible under the law, unless the employee authorizes in writing the disclosure of the employee's identity.
- E. It is unlawful for any Library employee or the Board of Trustees to take retaliatory action because an employee, in good faith, provided information that improper government action occurred. “Retaliatory action” includes reprimands, disciplinary action, and unsatisfactory performance evaluations. An employee who believes he or she has been retaliated against for reporting an improper governmental action must provide written notice to the Library Director or Chair of the Board of Trustees within 30 days of the alleged retaliatory action. (Consult RCW 42.41 for details.)

Policy Section 7.6 Political Activity by Library Employees and Volunteers

Date Adopted: February 13, 2007

Date Amended: June 12, 2007

Date Implemented: June 12, 2007

Date Amended: December 17, 2015

7.6.0 Political activity by Library Employees and Volunteers

- A. As a tax-supported institution, it is important that the Library District demonstrate neutrality regarding political campaigns and candidates. Library employees and volunteers have a similar responsibility regarding personal campaign preferences. In order to avoid any misunderstanding regarding the position of the Library District with regard to political issues and/or candidates, all individuals working at the Library are restricted from wearing political pins, buttons, etc., or advocating a particular candidate or issue while on Library time. This restriction does not extend to stickers on employee-and volunteer personal vehicles when parked in the Library public parking lot. While on their own time, employees and volunteers may participate in campaign issues and support candidates consistent with their rights as citizens.
- B. Nothing in this policy limits the Board of Trustees from hearing facts-only presentations from political, service, or other entities at the Board’s discretion. The Library may provide facility use for political campaigns and candidates as long as no endorsement is made or intentionally implied. (See Library Policy Section 5.2, Use of the Building, for more details about policies governing use of the meeting room and other Library facilities.)

A Substitute Employee normally works less than 20 hours per week, though hours of work can fluctuate depending on the assigned work. As an on-call employee, a substitute typically has no fixed schedule.
- B. A Substitute Employee is an “at will” employee, and is subject to applicable Library policies and procedures. Substitute employment may be terminated by either the employee or the Library District, with or without notice. Substitute employment represents no commitment concerning future employment of any kind.

8.0.4 Temporary Employees

- A. The Library Director may hire Temporary Employees, including Library Assistants and Interns, to meet temporary workload or project needs. Temporary employment consists of regular, predictable and scheduled employment, not to exceed six calendar months duration. Temporary employment can be full-time or part-time.

B. A Temporary Employee is an “at will” employee and is subject to applicable Library policies and procedures. Temporary employment may be terminated by either the employee or the Library District, with or without notice. Temporary employment represents no commitment concerning future employment of any kind.

1. Do not receive vacation leave, sick leave, health insurance, holidays or other benefits during their period of employment, unless exceptional circumstances exist and they qualify for such benefits as a regular eligible employee.

The Library recognizes the value of Volunteers as a resource to further the Library’s ability to provide quality services and programs to the public.

It is the intent of the Board of Trustees that Volunteers are used only to enrich budgeted library services and programs and that no volunteers will be used to replace positions that are part of the Library’s regularly-funded services. Library volunteers are subject to the provisions of the Library’s Policy Manual, where applicable.

Policy Section 8.1
 Employee Compensation and Benefits
 Date Proposed: November 9, 2006
 Date Adopted: May 8, 2007
 Date Implemented: June 12, 2007
 Date Revised: December 17, 2015

8.1.0 Health Insurance

8.1.1 Regular Full-Time Employees (work 30 or more hours per week) will be eligible for full Library-paid medical benefits.

8.1.2 Regular Part-Time Employees (work fewer than 30 hours per week) will be eligible for partial coverage of their medical benefits if they are regularly scheduled to work at least 20 hours per week or work an average of 80 hours per month or more (as measured over a six month period).

A. The library's contribution to the employee's medical coverage will be calculated using this schedule:

Employee's regularly scheduled hours	Employer contribution
30 hours per week or more	100%
20-29 hours per week (or avg. of 80 hrs./mo. for 6 mo.)	70%
Fewer than 20 hours per week	0%

B. The difference between the percent covered by the Library District for an employee and the actual monthly insurance cost will be an expense of the employee.

C. Employees working fewer than 80 hours per month are not eligible for Library-paid medical benefits. However, such employees may purchase medical insurance through the Library's group policy.

8.1.3 The Library District shall pay only the employee's benefits. If an employee wishes to provide coverage for a dependent and the vendor allows coverage, such coverage shall be at the employee's expense. Dependents include spouses, children (through age 25), and domestic partners.

A. Coverage shall be effective at the date of hire or at the date of a change in an employee scheduled hours that would result in a different coverage. The library group insurance plan shall be explained in a separate booklet given to the employee at the time of enrollment.

- B. The Library District reserves the right to change the group insurance plan and insurance carrier, and/or to modify health benefits cost-sharing for full or part-time employees, with at least 60 days' prior notice to employees.

Policy Section 8.2

Retirement Benefits

Date Proposed: November 9, 2006

Date Adopted: May 8, 2007

Date Implemented: June 12, 2007

Date Revised: December 17, 2015

8.2.0 Retirement Benefits

Most employees of the Lopez Island Library are covered by the Public Employees' Retirement System (PERS) of the state of Washington. Eligibility requirements are determined by PERS and are based on several factors, including position and hours of employment. The Library Director is responsible for determination of each employee's eligibility for membership in the state's retirement system when s/he is hired. New employees shall be informed, orally and in writing, of the basic elements of the Library's retirement plan.

8.2.1 Participation

Entry into the retirement plan is mandatory for eligible employees. For those new employees who fall under the eligibility requirements, entry begins the first month of employment.

8.2.2 Contribution

The contribution rate is determined by PERS, and may be changed as necessary to reflect the cost of the plan.

8.2.3 Employee eligibility

A discussion of the PERS eligibility criteria is beyond the scope of this Library Policy Manual. Each employee should discuss eligibility for PERS and the rules that would apply to him/her with the Library Director.

8.2.4 Vesting.

When an employee has five years of service credit in PERS, s/he is considered vested in the plan. Participation in the plan is transferable to other employers who offer PERS coverage. If an employee terminates plan participation before being vested, s/he is entitled to withdraw all employee-contributed funds; employer-contributed funds remain in the plan.

8.2.5 Deferred Compensation

The District offers a deferred compensation program. This is optional for all employees of the Lopez Island Library District but contributions come only from the employee, not the Library.

Policy Section 8.3 Time Off

Date Proposed: November 9, 2006

Date Adopted: May 8, 2007

Date Implemented: June 12, 2007

Date Revised: December 17, 2015

8.3.0 Holidays

Holidays are designated by the Board of Trustees. The following holidays will be observed by the Library District:

1. New Years' Day
2. Martin Luther King Day
3. Presidents Day (third Monday in February)
4. Memorial Day
5. July 4
6. Labor Day
7. Veteran's day (or day observed as federal Veteran's Day holiday)
8. Thanksgiving Day
9. The day after Thanksgiving
10. *Christmas Eve - 2:00 pm closing (4 hrs)
11. Christmas Day
12. New Years Eve - 2:00 closing (4 hrs)
13. PERSONAL HOLIDAY - to be taken during the year, with the Director's approval.

* The Library will close at 2:00 p.m. on December 24. No holiday time is accrued for those employees not scheduled to work on this day.

 The Library will close at 2:00 p.m. on December 31. No holiday time is accrued for those employees not scheduled to work on this day.

Whenever a holiday falls on a Sunday, the following Monday will be observed as a holiday.

- A. Regular Full-Time Employees and Regular Part-Time Employees who are scheduled to work on a holiday will receive the day off with pay. If not scheduled to work, Regular Full-Time Employees will be credited with eight hours holiday leave (or a prorated amount for employees scheduled to work fewer than 40 hours per week); to be taken within the month the holiday occurs.
- B. Regular Part-Time Employees (less than 30 hrs) will be credited in an amount proportionate to the number of regularly scheduled hours worked per week, based on a 40 hour work week.
- C. A holiday occurring during an employee's vacation or other paid leave shall be considered holiday time and shall not be charged against that employee's paid leave credits.

8.3.1 Unpaid Holidays for Reasons of Faith or Conscience

Consistent with State law, employees are entitled to two unpaid holidays per calendar year for a reason of faith or conscience or an organized activity conducted under the auspices of a religious denomination, church, or religious organization.

- A. Employees may select the days on which they desire to take the two unpaid holidays after consultation with their supervisor. An employee's request to take a particular day off will be granted unless the absence would impose an undue hardship. "Undue hardship" means significant difficulty or expense, taking into account factors such as the effect of the absence on operations and the number of other employees requesting leave, and the impact on other employees' leave entitlements. If possible, an employee should submit a written request for an unpaid holiday to his/her supervisor a minimum of 3 (three) days prior to the requested day off. Approval of the unpaid holiday shall not be deemed approved unless it has been authorized in writing by the supervisor. Partial days off will count as a full day toward the annual entitlement of two unpaid holidays. The two unpaid holidays allowed by this section must be taken during the calendar year, if at all; they do not carry over from one year to the next.
- B. Employees may not use accrued vacation or other leave for this time of leave; if an employee would like to take vacation or other paid time off instead of an unpaid holiday under this policy, it will be subject to the paid time off approval process applicable to the type of paid leave requested.

8.3.2 Vacations

It is the policy of the District to provide eligible employees annual vacation time with pay to afford the opportunity for rest and recreation. Coverage under this policy includes all Regular Full-Time (more than 30 hours/week) and Regular Part-Time Employees.

A. Eligibility and accrual schedule

1. Vacation time for the Director will be negotiated between the Director and the Board.
2. Regular Full-Time Employees are entitled to paid vacation at the completion of the first six calendar months of continuous employment and thereafter according to this schedule:
 - a) Regular Full-Time Employees earn vacation time according to the following schedule:

Months of continuous service	Working days/year
0-24	12 days
25-60	14 days
61-120	16 days
121-180	18 days
181-240	20 days
241+	25 days

- b) Regular Full-Time Employees who work fewer than 40 hours per week and Regular Part-Time Employees accrue vacation time according to the above schedule, prorated so as to accrue an amount of vacation time proportionate to their scheduled work hours, based on a 40 hour work week.
3. Regular Full-Time Employees and Regular Part-Time Employees accrue vacation time from the date of hire, but may not use time accrued until completion of the six month probationary period.
4. A maximum of 30 days of vacation time may be accumulated, after which excess time will be lost without compensation. No additional vacation will accrue until after the employee uses vacation time and brings his/her balance below 30 days.

B. Vacation scheduling

1. Because of the beneficial effects of rest and recreation, vacation time must be used in the year after it is accrued, except that 50% of a year's accrued vacation time may be carried forward into the first five months of the following employment year with the approval of the Library Director. Unused vacation time in excess of this 50% potential carryover will be lost without compensation.

2. Employees may select their own vacation time subject to the Director's approval. Employees are encouraged to take vacations during the non-peak times. Vacation time is to be taken in increments of at least and normally not less than one-half workday. An employee shall not be permitted to work and receive vacation pay in lieu of vacation time. Extended vacations must be approved by the Library Director at least one month in advance.

C. Unused vacation hours

Upon retirement or termination of employment, the Library District will buy back eligible unused vacation hours.

- D. The Library Director shall maintain accounts of accrued vacation time for all eligible employees, to be up-dated monthly.

- E. Exceptions to any of the above may be made at the discretion of the Board.

8.3.3 Personal/Sick Leave

Policy Statement:

It is the policy of the Library District to provide eligible staff members a measure of financial protection by allowing time off with pay when a personal illness, accident or disability requires the employee to be absent from work.

A. Definitions and Coverage

1. Coverage under this policy includes all Regular Full-Time Employees and Regular Part-Time Employees.
2. Personal/sick leave may be used for a period of time an employee is absent from work due to:
 - a) Personal illness, accident or disability.
 - b) Illness of an immediate family member, which requires the assistance of the employee. (For this paragraph, "immediate family" is normally defined as parent, child, and sibling or spouse/domestic partner.)
 - c) Medical and/or dental appointments, together with a reasonable allowance for ferry travel when this is required.
3. Personal/sick leave is intended solely as a form of financial insurance protection and is not considered to be paid time off that is owed to a staff member.

B. Accrual Schedule and Eligibility

1. Regular Full-Time Employees and Regular Part-Time Employees shall accrue personal/sick leave benefits at the rate of one hour for each 21.67 hours worked for use following one month's continuous employment.
2. Regular Full-Time Employees and Regular Part-Time Employees may accrue up to ninety (90) days of earned but unused personal/sick leave (prorated for part-time employees).
3. Upon retirement or termination of employment, the Library will recompense 25% of the personal/sick leave accumulated, to a maximum of 22 1/2 days.
4. A temporary change in an employee's regular weekly work schedule shall not affect the employee's accumulation of personal/sick leave benefits. For purposes of this policy, the employee's regular weekly work schedule includes regular hours worked, holidays, vacations, personal leave and excludes leave of absence periods.

C. Reporting and Use of Accrued Personal/Sick Leave

1. It is the responsibility of employees to notify the Library Director, in the event of any absence, immediately following the start of each workday. Failure to notify may result in loss of personal/sick leave pay for the day.
2. Accrued paid personal/sick leave benefits shall be granted when an employee must be absent from work due to the following conditions:
 - a) Injury or illness of the employee
 - b) Disability of the employee, spouse or partner due to pregnancy childbirth and associated periods of recovery
 - c) Medical, dental or optical care of the employee
 - d) The need to care for injury, illness or disability in the employee's immediate family that requires the assistance of the employee. (For this paragraph, immediate family is defined as parent, child, and sibling or spouse/domestic partner.)
3. In the event an employee must be absent for a condition listed in Section 8.3.3.C.2 in excess of accrued personal/sick leave, the following shall apply:

a) regular pay will continue, drawing from earned but unused vacation time; followed by

b) leave of absence without pay. (See Library Policy section 8.3.7.)

D. Use of Accrued Leave to Care for Family Members

Consistent with the Washington Family Care Act, employees may use their choice of any accrued leave (e.g., vacation or personal/sick leave) that they have available for their own use in order to care for their child, spouse, registered domestic partner, parent, parent-in-law or grandparent as described below.

1. An employee may use available paid time off to care for his/her child where the child has a health condition requiring treatment or supervision, or where the child needs preventive care (such as medical, dental, optical or immunization services).
2. An employee may use available paid time off when a spouse, registered domestic partner, parent, parent-in-law, or grandparent has a "serious or emergency health condition", which are conditions: requiring an overnight stay in a hospital or other medical-care facility; resulting in a period of incapacity or treatment or recovery following inpatient care; involving continuing treatment under the care of a health care services provider that includes any period of incapacity to work or attend to regular daily activities; or involving an emergency (i.e., demanding immediate action).

D. Employees are required to notify their supervisor of the need to take time off to care for a family member as soon as the need for leave becomes known. The Library reserves the right to require verification or documentation confirming a family member's serious or emergency health condition when available leave is used to care for that family member.

E. Administrative Provisions

1. The Library may request a physician's statement or otherwise verify that an employee has been ill or is taking personal/sick leave for a covered purpose.
2. In the event of an accident that qualifies for payment under Library District-paid Worker's Compensation Industrial Insurance, accrued personal/sick leave shall pay the difference between the Worker's Compensation payment and the employee's regular salary until accrued personal/sick leave has been exhausted.

8.3.4 Jury Duty

Employees who are summoned as jurors shall be granted leave from Library District employment to the extent required by such service, and shall receive their regular pay. In order to be eligible to receive regular pay, the employee must endorse over any jury paychecks (not including expense payments) received to the Library District.

If the employee is excused from jury duty on any regularly scheduled workday, s/he shall notify the Library Director and report to work.

8.3.5 Bereavement Leave

Subject to the approval of the Director, a maximum of three (3) working days bereavement leave, with pay, shall be allowed when there is a death in a regular employee's immediate family or any other member of the immediate household. For this paragraph, an immediate family member includes an employee's spouse/domestic partner, and the father, mother, foster parent, guardian, brother, sister, child, foster child, grandparents, or grandchildren of the employee or the employee's spouse/domestic partner.

This leave may be extended by the use of personal/sick leave or leave without pay with the approval of the Library Director.

8.3.6 Military Leave

- A. Leave for Military Service or Training. Military leave for Library employees will be governed by RCW 38.40.060. An employee is entitled to paid leave not to exceed 21 days per year (October 1 from September 30) for military service. For military leave beyond 21 working days, earned vacation and personal leave may be used. All military leave, including re-employment of returning veterans, will be administered in accordance with RCW 73.16.033 and USERRA.
- B. Leave for Spouses and Registered Domestic Partners of Military Personnel. During a period of military conflict declared by the President or Congress, an employee who is the spouse or registered domestic partner of a member of the Armed Forces, National Guard or Reserves is entitled to up to 15 days of unpaid leave while his/her spouse or domestic partner is on leave from deployment, or before and up to deployment. The purpose of this leave is to support the families of military personnel serving in military conflicts by permitting them to spend time together before a family member is deployed or while the family member is on leave from a deployment. An employee must work an average of 20 hours per week to be eligible for this family military leave.

8.3.7 Leave Due to Domestic Violence or Sexual Assault

In compliance with Washington law, the Library will authorize leave for employees who are victims of domestic violence, sexual assault, or stalking, or for employees with a family member (child, spouse, registered domestic partner, parent, parent-in-law, grandparent, or person with whom the employee has a dating relationship) who is a victim of domestic violence, sexual assault, or stalking. A reasonable amount of leave will be provided, and this leave may be taken in blocks, intermittently, or on a reduced leave schedule. Domestic violence/sexual assault leave is unpaid, although an employee may elect to use the employee's accrued paid leave (e.g., vacation or personal/sick leave) in connection with such leave.

Domestic Violence/Sexual Assault Leave may be taken for the following purposes:

- A. To seek law enforcement or legal assistance or to prepare for or participate in any legal proceeding related to domestic violence, sexual assault, or stalking;
- B. To seek health care treatment for physical or mental injuries from domestic violence, sexual assault, or stalking, or attend to such health care treatment for a family member;
- C. To obtain (or assist a family member in obtaining) services from a domestic violence shelter, rape crisis center, or other social services;
- D. To obtain (or assist a family member in obtaining) mental health counseling related to domestic violence, sexual assault, or stalking; or
- E. To participate in safety planning, to temporarily or permanently relocate, or to take other actions to increase the safety of the employee or family member relating to domestic violence, sexual assault, or stalking.

When possible, employees must give advance notice of the intention to take leave. If advance notice is not possible, employees (or their designees) must give notice of the need for this leave no later than the end of the first day the employee takes the leave. The Library may require verification to support the need for the leave. Except where disclosure is authorized or required by law, or where an employee authorized disclosure of certain information, the Library will maintain confidentiality of all information provided by the employee in conjunction with Domestic Violence/Sexual Assault Leave.

8.3.8 Leave Without Pay

- A. The Library District may grant a regular employee leave of absence without pay normally not to exceed three (3) months. Leave without pay shall be granted by the Director only when requested in writing by the employee and when such leave will not detrimentally affect the library. Leave without pay should be requested as far in advance as possible and the expected duration must be indicated in the written request.

- B. Leave without pay in excess of 5 days will be granted only after all vacation leave has been exhausted.
- C. Conditions of Leave: Leave without pay will be considered for the following circumstances:
 - 1. Illness or injuries of the employee or persons within the employee's household, after all accrued personal leave credits have been exhausted.
 - 2. Disability leave, including disability due to pregnancy or childbirth, after all accrued personal leave credits have been exhausted.
 - 3. Maternity/paternity leave, up to 12 weeks, may be granted with the approval of the Director and the Board of Trustees
 - 4. Continuing education opportunities.
- E. Other circumstances requiring an absence of five (5) or more working days.
 - D. No benefits accrue during a leave of absence without pay.
 - E. In exceptional circumstances, leave without pay may be extended beyond three (3) months by the Library District, but reinstatement to the employee's original position cannot be guaranteed.

8.3.9 Leave Without Pay - Director Benefits

Leave without pay for the Library Director will be negotiated between the Director and the Board of Trustees.

8.3.10 Unplanned or Emergency Closure

- A. The Library Director or her/his designated agent may close the library without advance notice in the event of conditions which make it unsafe or impossible for Library personnel to carry out their assigned duties.
- B. If district facilities are closed by the director or her/his designated agent, all regular employees receiving benefits shall be paid for the time period based on the regular schedule for that time period.

1. To be eligible for pay, the employee must be scheduled for work at the time of the closure, and remain available to immediately return to work should the condition causing the closure abate.
 2. At the time of the closure, an employee who is on vacation, personal/sick leave or leave without pay, may not convert the time to emergency leave.
- C. Absence due to an employee's inability to report for scheduled work because of inclement weather, conditions caused by inclement weather, or any other natural disaster, shall be made up within a month with the permission of the Library Director, or taken as vacation leave or leave without pay.
- D. Notification of the staff of the closure is the responsibility of the Library Director or her/his designated agent.

8.3.11 Breaks and Lunches

- A. The Library encourages employees to take breaks from their workday for mental and physical refreshment. Employees are allowed a paid rest break of at least 10 minutes for each 4 hours worked. The rest break must be taken no later than the end of the third hour of the shift. Employees are encouraged to leave the work area during their break.
- B. The Library does not pay for lunch/meal periods if employees are free from any work-related duties for their entire meal period. If more than 5 hours are worked in a shift, employees are allowed a 30-minute unpaid meal period. Employees may come in early or stay late to make up the time. Any day where an employee chooses to waive his/her lunch break, the employee may choose to combine the two 10 minute breaks to take a paid lunch, or notify the plans to make up the time. The meal period cannot start more than 5 hours after the beginning of the shift. Employees will be paid during their meal period when they are required or allowed to remain on duty while they eat in the workroom or kitchen.
- C. In addition, for one year following childbirth, non-exempt employees who are nursing mothers are entitled to unpaid breaks during the workday for the purpose of expressing breast milk. These breaks will be paid to the extent they run concurrently with the above-referenced daily rest breaks. The Library will provide a suitable, private location for nursing breaks. Please contact the Library Director to make appropriate arrangements if you need nursing breaks.

Date Proposed: November 9, November 9, 2006

Date Adopted: May 8, 2007

Date Implemented: June 12, 2007

Date Revised: December 17, 2015

8.4 Library Staff Duties and Compensation

8.4.1 Duties. Library employees are required to perform work in the areas of acquisitions, cataloging, networking, reference, volunteer coordination, programs, and information systems, as well as assisting patrons with locating information. Each library employee will be assigned specific duties within the broad framework of the library's functions (i.e. youth services, interlibrary loan, bookkeeping, cataloging, etc.). Duties for each position will be delineated in individual position descriptions provided to each employee. Other duties may be assigned as necessary.

8.4.2 Compensation. Salaries for staff members are established by the Board of Trustees. Any employee who believes there are errors in his/her pay, including overpayment or underpayment of wages, improper deductions from pay or that the pay does not accurately reflect all hours worked, including overtime, should report such concerns to the Library Director immediately. The Library Director will promptly investigate all reported complaints and, if appropriate, take corrective action. The Library prohibits and will not tolerate retaliation against any employee because that employee filed a good faith complaint under this policy. Specifically, no one will be disciplined, intimidated or otherwise retaliated against because that person exercised rights under this policy or applicable law.

8.4.3 Cost of Living Adjustment. Library employee salaries are eligible to receive an annual cost of living adjustment at the beginning of each budget year, subject to Board of Trustees approval. The cost of living adjustment will be some percentage of the Consumer Price Index for the Seattle area received from the U.S. Department of labor under the title CONSUMER PRICE INDEXES PACIFIC CITIES AND U.S. CITY AVERAGE and other local sources. The amount of this cost of living adjustment will be determined by the Library Board of Trustees at the end of each budget year.

8.4.4 Substitute Librarian. See Section 8.0.4 for policies governing the employment of Substitute Employees, including the duties and compensation of Substitute Librarians.

Policy Section 8.5
Professional Development
Date Proposed: November 9, 2006
Date Adopted: May 8, 2007
Date Implemented: June 12, 2007
Date Revised: December 17, 2015

8.5.0 Professional Development

Library staff members are encouraged to participate regularly in conferences, meetings, and professional development programs, which will benefit their professional growth, enable them to remain current in library developments, and improve their ability to serve library patrons and the community. The Library District will bear the cost of approved participation in accordance with the following policies.

8.5.1 Eligible events. Events (conferences, meetings, courses and the like) should enhance the employee's abilities to perform regular responsibilities, and should enhance the District's mission and service.

8.5.2 Ineligible events. Courses taken principally to obtain basic skills or knowledge that the employee, when hired, was expected to possess to meet the minimum prerequisites of her/his present job description are not eligible events.

The Director shall consult with the Board of Trustees when there is a question about whether an event is eligible.

8.5.3 Approval. The Library Director is responsible for allocating the available ongoing staff training and professional development budget. In order to receive reimbursement, staff must obtain the Director's approval before the event.

8.5.4 Reimbursement. Conference fees and all necessary lodging, travel, meals (if overnight stay is required) and ancillary costs will be eligible for reimbursement. Travel costs will be reimbursed in accordance with Library District policies. Reimbursement may be either full or, if the budget requires and the attending staff member agrees, partial. Reimbursement will be full unless a partial reimbursement arrangement is set at the time of approval.

Reasonable and customary expenses will be considered for reimbursement. Alcoholic beverages are excluded from reimbursement. Requests for reimbursement must be submitted on an expense report and should normally include receipts.

8.5.5 Compensation. Because of the geographic isolation of Lopez Island Library, the Library District may not be able to compensate staff for their time in traveling to and from, as well as attending, events, when travel time falls outside their normal paid hours. Arrangements for compensation, in accordance with these policies, must be made before final approval to attend the event is given.

Regular Full-Time Employees will be compensated for professional development time according to their normal employment pattern. If the event takes place on a day when the employee does not normally work, compensatory time off may be provided at the discretion of the Library Director.

Regular Part-Time Employees attending an event on a day they are normally scheduled to work will be paid their normal rate of pay for that day. If their actual hours of attendance in meetings or conference sessions (excluding travel time, meals, etc.) exceed their paid hours, they will be paid (at their normal rate) for the difference or will be provided compensatory time off, at the discretion of the Library Director.

Regular Part-Time Employees attending an event on a day when they are not normally scheduled to work will be compensated for the actual hours of attendance, either by being paid for the hours at their normal rate or by being provided compensatory time off, at the discretion of the Director.

8.5.6 Assessment. The Library Director will make appropriate assessments about the value of individual professional development events.

8.5.7 Anticipated professional development opportunities. At a minimum, the Board of Trustees anticipates, and will try to budget for, the following minimum level of professional development opportunities: Library Director: WLA and PLA and/or ALA annual meetings. CODE OF ETHICS

The principles of a code of ethics are set out in broad statements to guide ethical decision-making for trustees who are entrusted with the expenditure of public funds. RCW 42.52 "Ethics in Public Service" establishes basic tenets of ethical public service for elected state officials, appointed officials, and other personnel in state government.

Like all policy statements, a code of ethics statement provides a framework for supporting procedures. Following are examples of codes adopted by state and national associations and commentary about a code adopted by Jefferson County Rural Library District Board of Trustees. Although all are similar, differences in approaches and some content are apparent.

AMERICAN LIBRARY ASSOCIATION

General Statement Guiding Librarians, Other Professionals, Library Trustees and Library Staffs

As members of the American Library Association, we recognize the importance of codifying and making known to the profession and to the general public the ethical principles that guide the work of librarians, other professionals providing information services, library trustees and library staffs.

Ethical dilemmas occur when values are in conflict. The American Library Association Code of Ethics states the values to which we are committed, and embodies the ethical responsibilities of the profession in this changing information environment.

We significantly influence or control the selection, organization, preservation, and dissemination of information. In a political system grounded in an informed citizenry, we are members of a profession explicitly committed to intellectual freedom and the freedom of access to information. We have a special obligation to ensure the free flow of information and ideas to present and future generations.

The principles of this Code are expressed in broad statements to guide ethical decision-making. These statements provide a framework; they cannot and do not dictate conduct to cover particular situations.

- We provide the highest level of service to all library users through appropriate and usefully organized resources; equitable service policies; equitable access; and accurate, unbiased, and courteous responses to all requests.
- We uphold the principles of intellectual freedom and resist all efforts to censor library resources.

- We protect each library user's right to privacy and confidentiality with respect to information sought or received and resources consulted, borrowed, acquired or transmitted.
- We recognize and respect intellectual property rights.
- We treat co-workers and other colleagues with respect, fairness and good faith, and advocate conditions of employment that safeguard the rights and welfare of all employees of our institutions.
- We do not advance private interests at the expense of library users, colleagues, or our employing institutions.
- We distinguish between our personal convictions and professional duties and do not allow our personal beliefs to interfere with fair representation of the aims of our institutions or the provision of access to their information resources.
- We strive for excellence in the profession by maintaining and enhancing our own knowledge and skills, by encouraging the professional development of co-workers, and by fostering the aspirations of potential members of the profession

APPENDIX B - LIBRARY BILL OF RIGHTS

The American Library Association affirms that all libraries are forums for information and ideas, and that the following basic policies should guide their services.

- I. Books and other library resources should be provided for the interest, information, and enlightenment of all people of the community the library serves. Materials should not be excluded because of the origin, background, or views of those contributing to their creation.
- II. Libraries should provide materials and information presenting all points of view on current and historical issues. Materials should not be proscribed or removed because of partisan or doctrinal disapproval.
- III. Libraries should challenge censorship in the fulfillment of their responsibility to provide information and enlightenment.
- IV. Libraries should cooperate with all persons and groups concerned with resisting abridgment of free expression and free access to ideas.
- V. A person's right to use a library should not be denied or abridged because of origin, age, background, or views.
- VI. Libraries which make exhibit spaces and meeting rooms available to the public they serve should make such facilities available on an equitable basis, regardless of the beliefs or affiliations of individuals or groups requesting their use.

APPENDIX C - THE FREEDOM TO READ

The freedom to read is essential to our democracy. It is continuously under attack. Private groups and public authorities in various parts of the country are working to remove or limit access to reading materials, to censor content in schools, to label “controversial” views, to distribute lists of “objectionable” books or authors, and to purge libraries. These actions apparently rise from a view that our national tradition of free expression is no longer valid; that censorship and suppression are needed to counter threats to safety or national security, as well as to avoid the subversion of politics and the corruption of morals. We, as individuals devoted to reading and as librarians and publishers responsible for disseminating ideas, wish to assert the public interest in the preservation of the freedom to read.

Most attempts at suppression rest on a denial of the fundamental premise of democracy: that the ordinary individual, by exercising critical judgment, will select the good and reject the bad. We trust Americans to recognize propaganda and misinformation, and to make their own decisions about what they read and believe. We do not believe they are prepared to sacrifice their heritage of a free press in order to be “protected” against what others think may be bad for them. We believe they still favor free enterprise in ideas and expression.

These efforts at suppression are related to a larger pattern of pressures being brought against education, the press, art and images, films, broadcast media, and the Internet. The problem is not only one of actual censorship. The shadow of fear cast by these pressures leads, we suspect, to an even larger voluntary curtailment of expression by those who seek to avoid controversy or unwelcome scrutiny by government officials.

Such pressure toward conformity is perhaps natural to a time of accelerated change. And yet suppression is never more dangerous than in such a time of social tension. Freedom has given the United States the elasticity to endure strain. Freedom keeps open the path of novel and creative solutions, and enables change to come by choice. Every silencing of a heresy, every enforcement of an orthodoxy, diminishes the toughness and resilience of our society and leaves it the less able to deal with controversy and difference.

Now as always in our history, reading is among our greatest freedoms. The freedom to read and write is almost the only means for making generally available ideas or manners of expression that can initially command only a small audience. The written word is the natural medium for the new idea and the untried voice from which come the original contributions to social growth. It is essential to the extended discussion that serious thought requires, and to the accumulation of knowledge and ideas into organized collections.

We believe that free communication is essential to the preservation of a free society and a creative culture. We believe that these pressures toward conformity present the danger of limiting the range and variety of inquiry and expression on which our democracy and our culture depend. We believe that every American community must jealously guard the freedom to publish and to circulate, in order to preserve its own freedom to read. We believe that publishers and librarians have a profound responsibility to give validity to that freedom to read by making it possible for the readers to choose freely from a variety of offerings.

The freedom to read is guaranteed by the Constitution. Those with faith in free people will stand firm on these constitutional guarantees of essential rights and will exercise the responsibilities that accompany these rights.

We therefore affirm these propositions:

1. It is in the public interest for publishers and librarians to make available the widest diversity of views and expressions, including those that are unorthodox, unpopular, or considered dangerous by the majority.

Creative thought is by definition new, and what is new is different. The bearer of every new thought is a rebel until that idea is refined and tested. Totalitarian systems attempt to maintain themselves in power by the ruthless suppression of any concept that challenges the established orthodoxy. The power of a democratic system to adapt to change is vastly strengthened by the freedom of its citizens to choose widely from among conflicting opinions offered freely to them. To stifle every nonconformist idea at birth would mark the end of the democratic process. Furthermore, only through the constant activity of weighing and selecting can the democratic mind attain the strength demanded by times like these. We need to know not only what we believe but why we believe it.

2. Publishers, librarians, and booksellers do not need to endorse every idea or presentation they make available. It would conflict with the public interest for them to establish their own political, moral, or aesthetic views as a standard for determining what should be published or circulated.

Publishers and librarians serve the educational process by helping to make available knowledge and ideas required for the growth of the mind and the increase of learning. They do not foster education by imposing as mentors the patterns of their own thought. The people should have the freedom to read and consider a broader range of ideas than those that may be held by any single librarian or publisher or government or church. It is wrong that what one can read should be confined to what another thinks proper.

3. It is contrary to the public interest for publishers or librarians to bar access to writings on the basis of the personal history or political affiliations of the author.

No art or literature can flourish if it is to be measured by the political views or private lives of its creators. No society of free people can flourish that draws up lists of writers to whom it will not listen, whatever they may have to say.

4. There is no place in our society for efforts to coerce the taste of others, to confine adults to the reading matter deemed suitable for adolescents, or to inhibit the efforts of writers to achieve artistic expression.

To some, much of modern expression is shocking. But is not much of life itself shocking? We cut off literature at the source if we prevent writers from dealing with the stuff of life. Parents and teachers have a responsibility to prepare the young to meet the diversity of experiences in life to which they will be exposed, as they have a responsibility to help them learn to think critically for themselves. These are affirmative responsibilities, not to be discharged simply by preventing them from reading works for which they are not yet prepared. In these matters values differ, and values cannot be legislated; nor can machinery be devised that will suit the demands of one group without limiting the freedom of others.

5. It is not in the public interest to force a reader to accept the prejudgment of a label characterizing any expression or its author as subversive or dangerous.

The ideal of labeling presupposes the existence of individuals or groups with wisdom to determine by authority what is good or bad for others. It presupposes that individuals must be directed in making up their minds about the ideas they examine. But Americans do not need others to do their thinking for them.

6. It is the responsibility of publishers and librarians, as guardians of the people's freedom to read, to contest encroachments upon that freedom by individuals or groups seeking to impose their own standards or tastes upon the community at large; and by the government whenever it seeks to reduce or deny public access to public information.

It is inevitable in the give and take of the democratic process that the political, the moral, or the aesthetic concepts of an individual or group will occasionally collide with those of another individual or group. In a free society individuals are free to determine for themselves what they wish to read and each group is free to determine what it will recommend to its freely associated members. But no group has the right to take the law into its own hands, and to impose its own concept of politics or morality upon other members of a democratic society. Freedom is no freedom if it is accorded only to the accepted and the inoffensive. Further, democratic societies are more safe, free, and creative when the free flow of public information is not restricted by governmental prerogative or self-censorship.

7. It is the responsibility of publishers and librarians to give full meaning to the freedom to read by providing books that enrich the quality and diversity of thought and expression. By the exercise of this affirmative responsibility, they can demonstrate that the answer to a "bad" book is a good one, the answer to a "bad" idea is a good one.

The freedom to read is of little consequence when the reader cannot obtain matter fit for that reader's purpose. What is needed is not only the absence of restraint, but the positive provision of opportunity for the people to read the best that has been thought and said. Books are the major channel by which the intellectual inheritance is handed down, and the principal means of its testing and growth. The defense of the freedom to read requires of all publishers and librarians the utmost of their faculties, and deserves of all Americans the fullest of their support.

We state these propositions neither lightly nor as easy generalizations. We here stake out a lofty claim for the value of the written word. We do so because we believe that it is possessed of enormous variety and usefulness, worthy of cherishing and keeping free. We realize that the application of these propositions may mean the dissemination of ideas and manners of expression that are repugnant to many persons. We do not state these propositions in the comfortable belief that what people read is unimportant. We believe rather that what people read is deeply important; that ideas can be dangerous; but that the suppression of ideas is fatal to a democratic society. Freedom itself is a dangerous way of life, but it is ours.

This statement was originally issued in May of 1953 by the Westchester Conference of the American Library Association and the American Book Publishers Council, which in 1970 consolidated with the American Educational Publishers Institute to become the Association of American Publishers.

APPENDIX D - FREE ACCESS TO THE LIBRARY FOR MINORS

An Interpretation of the Library Bill of Rights

Library policies and procedures that effectively deny minors equal and equitable access to all library resources and services available to other users violate the Library Bill of Rights. The American Library Association opposes all attempts to restrict access to library services, materials, and facilities based on the age of library users.

Article V of the Library Bill of Rights states, "A person's right to use a library should not be denied or abridged because of origin, age, background, or views." The "right to use a library" includes free access to, and unrestricted use of, all the services, materials, and facilities the library has to offer. Every restriction on access to, and use of, library resources, based solely on the chronological age, educational level, literacy skills, or legal emancipation of users violates Article V.

Libraries are charged with the mission of providing services and developing resources to meet the diverse information needs and interests of the communities they serve. Services, materials, and facilities that fulfill the needs and interests of library users at different stages in their personal development are a necessary part of library resources. The needs and interests of each library user, and resources appropriate to meet those needs and interests, must be determined on an individual basis. Librarians cannot predict what resources will best fulfill the needs and interests of any individual user based on a single criterion such as chronological age, educational level, literacy skills, or legal emancipation. Equitable access to all library resources and services shall not be abridged through restrictive scheduling or use policies.

Libraries should not limit the selection and development of library resources simply because minors will have access to them. Institutional self-censorship diminishes the credibility of the library in the community, and restricts access for all library users.

Children and young adults unquestionably possess First Amendment rights, including the right to receive information through the library in print, nonprint, or digital format. Constitutionally protected speech cannot be suppressed solely to protect children or young adults from ideas or images a legislative body believes to be unsuitable for them. Librarians and library governing bodies should not resort to age restrictions in an effort to avoid actual or anticipated objections, because only a court of law can determine whether material is not constitutionally protected.

The mission, goals, and objectives of libraries cannot authorize librarians or library governing bodies to assume, abrogate, or overrule the rights and responsibilities of parents and guardians. As Libraries: An American Value states, "We affirm the responsibility and the right of all parents and guardians to guide their own children's use of the library and its resources and services." Librarians and library governing bodies cannot assume the role of parents or the functions of parental authority in the private relationship between parent and child. Librarians and governing bodies should maintain that only parents and guardians have the right and the responsibility to determine their children's—and only their children's—access to library resources. Parents and guardians who do not want their children to have access to specific library services, materials, or facilities should so advise their children.

Lack of access to information can be harmful to minors. Librarians and library governing bodies have a public and professional obligation to ensure that all members of the community they serve have free, equal, and equitable access to the entire range of library resources regardless of content, approach, format, or amount of detail. This principle of library service applies equally to all users, minors as well as adults. Librarians and library governing bodies must uphold this principle in order to provide adequate and effective service to minors.

APPENDIX E - PATRIOT ACT

Date Adopted: March 2004

Step By Step Guidelines for following the USA Patriot Act

A. If the order is a subpoena:

1. Explain that you do not have the authority to handle the request.
2. Refer the officer to the Director.
3. Do not tell anyone else (except the Director) that an officer has requested information.

Director:

1. Try to have another staff person with you when meeting with the officer.
2. Ask to see the officer's identification.
3. Ask to see the document that describes the information sought and that authorizes its release.
4. Accept the order and explain that you do not have the authorization to release the information until the library's attorney has reviewed it.
5. Call the library's attorney.
6. Do not tell anyone else that an officer has requested information.

If the subpoena is in order, the requested information will be given to the officer. We must access and deliver circulation records, etc. specified in the subpoena.

B. If the order is a search warrant:

All staff:

- 1) Explain that you do not have the authority to handle the request.
- 2) Refer the officer to the Director.
- 3) Do not tell anyone else (except the director) that an officer has requested information.
- 4) If the officer will not wait for the Director, ask for the officer's identification and accept the search warrant. We must access and deliver the circulation records, etc. specified in the search warrant.
- 5) Notify the director that the search warrant has been received.

Director:

- 1) Try to have another staff person with you when meeting with the officer.
- 2) Ask for the officer's identification. Ask to see the document that describes the information sought and authorizes its release.
- 3) Call the library's attorney.
- 4) Request the officer delay execution of the warrant until the attorney can be present.
- 5) If the officer will not wait for the attorney, accept the warrant and provide only the specific information described in the order. We must

- access and deliver circulation records, etc. specified in the warrant.
- 6) Do not tell anyone else that an officer has requested information.

C. If an officer does not have a court order or other appropriate document, take his or her name and badge number in order to report the incident to the appropriate authorities.

All Staff: Give that information to the Director.

Director: Give that information to the library's attorney.

D. First steps for the Library director or designee

1. Identify the agent-in-charge. Ask for identification and check it out. If agent is FBI, call local office: FBI Seattle: 206-622-0460. Don't just call the number given by the agent. Get a business card for the records.
2. Tell agent-in-charge who is in charge at the library's end. If the request is for local records or patron observations, it is the Library Director or designee. Request that the agent and his/her officers direct all inquiries through the person in charge.
3. Ask for a copy of the search warrant and its affidavit. A copy of the search warrant is essential, as the search must comply with its terms. The affidavit that law enforcement used to get the warrant may be helpful, but may not be available.
4. Ask for a brief delay to assemble the appropriate personnel. If possible, escort the law enforcement officers to a private area. Law enforcement has the discretion to grant this brief delay, or to execute the warrant immediately. As long as records are not in the process of being destroyed, and the library is an "innocent third party", it is likely that a brief delay will be granted. The library may be asked to "preserve evidence" (such as sign-up records) while the process unfolds. Together the library and the law enforcement persons-in-charge will determine the most appropriate place to meet. If law enforcement officers wait for the appropriate library personnel to arrive, it is desirable to escort them to a private area, to minimize the questioning of staff and general disruption. At the Lopez Library, this could be the meeting room, if unoccupied.
5. Fax the warrant to the attorney so s/he can review it as soon as possible. If not near a fax machine, tell the attorney the time the warrant was served, which areas the warrant states are to be searched, the sorts of evidence the warrant states are to be seized, and the law enforcement agencies that are involved.

E. Next, remind staff of their roles.

1. Suggest to any staff not directly involved in the search that they stay out of the way. They must not interfere with the search. Advise them that they are not required to answer questions from law enforcement. It is improper and may be illegal to advise staff NOT to answer questions, but they should be advised of their right to decline being interviewed, and their right to have an attorney present if they choose to be interviewed.

2. Be sure staff understands that there is no such thing as an informal conversation or off-the-record comment with agents in such circumstances. It is also easy to inadvertently “consent” to a search broader than the warrant provides. Staff is not required to authenticate documents seized or otherwise respond to questions except as to location of the items described in the warrant (and these inquiries should be directed to the person-in-charge).

F. CAUTION ON “CONSENT”: If the library is asked for consent to search items beyond the scope of the warrant, DECLINE. This includes all staff and volunteers. The government could use any consent given as an alternative basis, in addition to the search warrant, for defending the legality of the search, e.g. to expand the search beyond the scope permitted by the search warrant.

G. The attorney:

- 1) The attorney will ask to speak to the agent-in-charge or lead government attorney handling the matter (by phone, if necessary)
- 2) Emphasize that the library will do everything it can to insure that the search proceeds smoothly, but that you would like them to wait until you arrive (and the appropriate personnel, such as the Director) to make sure everything is in order.
- 3) The attorney will make sure the warrant is signed by a judge or magistrate.
- 4) If there is a discrepancy, notify the agent-in-charge.
- 5) The attorney may ask for a delay long enough for the library to litigate the warrant’s validity.
- 6) The attorney will examine the warrant to see if it is narrowly tailored. If not, the attorney may be able to negotiate a narrowing of terms.

H. Note the exact premises to be searched, exactly what is to be seized, who issued the warrant, and any time limits for executing the warrant. Negotiation here may be possible, (such as one hour of records instead of 30 days). Targeting the specific records needed goes a long way toward protecting the innocent patrons’ privacy. Make sure the search conducted does not exceed the terms of the document.

I. Delegate someone (other than the principal library team members) to take notes of the search. If law enforcement agents split into groups, additional staff may be needed to monitor each group. The monitoring staff members should not do anything that may be interpreted as obstruction. Be courteous, cooperative and quiet. Sometimes searches can get chaotic. Calm monitoring and note taking can be helpful to recall what took place.

- 1) Note down what questions were asked, such as where certain things can be found.
- 2) Agents sometimes number the rooms that they enter. Record the numbering scheme.
- 3) Record an inventory of the type and location of evidence seized. Your inventory will make more sense to you later than the inventory that the law enforcement officers give you.

4) Try to observe the agents' conduct, the places searched, and the time involved in each part of the search. The agents will probably be patient with this note taking and identification process. They are not likely, however to slow down the process or allow staff to interfere with the search in any way.

J. If law enforcement goes beyond the scope of the warrant, the attorney may ask them to desist. No one should grant consent to go beyond the scope of the warrant. The attorney may call the district Attorney or U. S. attorney to try to stop this. Do not, however, impede or obstruct. Take notes or even photos/videos if this occurs.

K. The attorney will request back up copies of all documents (photocopies) and computer disks seized. Better yet, ask to keep the originals and turn over the photocopies. If the agent refuses you copies, record in further detail all items that are seized.

L. The attorney will get an inventory of any items that are seized. This is important in recovering items later. You are entitled to an inventory of all items seized. Do not sign anything verifying the contents or accuracy.

FOLLOW UP STEPS FOR THE LIBRARY DIRECTOR OR DESIGNEE

1. Keep track of expenses. In some cases the library may be able to be compensated e.g. if the library must rent computers to replace those seized.

2. Double check to see if a gag order has been included with the court order. You will be told if there is a gag or "sealed" order. If so, you must comply with the terms of the order. For example, Section 215 of the Patriot Act (and other sections of the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act) states "No person shall disclose to any other person (other than those persons necessary to produce tangible things under this section) that the FBI has sought or obtained tangible things under this section." Necessary persons will include an attorney and essential staff up the chain of command, but not nonessential staff, spouses, etc. Keep records of the incident in a secured location.

3. Apprise governing authority. Although it is unlikely that there will be time to appraise the governing authority before or during the search, be sure to brief them as soon as possible. They may be called by the press.

4. Draft "talking points" if the press calls. Stick to talking points. If you are bound by a gag order, talk to the attorney to help draft an appropriate "no comment" statement. Make sure that staff is briefed on these points or that they routinely pass all press inquiries to a designated person.

- commitment to freedom of expression and inquiry for all people

PRINCIPAL ACTIVITIES:

1. Prepare for and attend regular board meetings.

The library board meeting will be the primary opportunity for you to contribute to the development of your library. To get the most from the meetings, and to be able to share your skills and knowledge, you must attend each meeting after having read and thought about the issues and topics that will be discussed. While you and your fellow trustees are busy people, it is important that the full board meet on a monthly basis to conduct business. You can contribute to the library by encouraging regular meetings and assuring that the meetings are properly noticed in accordance with the state's open meetings law.

2. Work to obtain adequate library funding. Assist in the review and approval of the annual budget and monthly expenditures as presented by the library director.

One of the library board's most important responsibilities is to work to obtain adequate financial support so that the library can provide a meaningful program of services for the residents of the area. As a trustee, your focus should be on those services and what is required to provide them to the public in the most beneficial manner. The library board must monitor the use of these public funds to assure that they provide what was intended. By law, only the library board has the authority to approve expenditures made by the library.

3. Participate in the development and approval of library policies. Review policies on a regular, systematic schedule.

Certainly the money is important to pay staff, buy materials, and maintain the facilities, but a library cannot operate successfully without policies that assure consistent and equitable treatment of all users while at the same time protecting the resources of the institution. Developing and adopting these policies is another important responsibility of a library board. Each trustee acts as a contact with other members of the community and has the chance to hear about concerns or desires relating to the library. The comments you receive from the public can help you and the other members of the board address the community standards through thoughtful and fair policies.

Understanding the feelings of community members and the challenges the staff faces in operating the library can prepare you to participate with other board members and the director in defending policies that may provoke controversy. As needs, processes, and services change within the library, there will be a need to review, revise, and add policies. It can be helpful for the board to establish a routine procedure for reviewing policies to be sure that they remain current. This is often accomplished by the board looking at individual policies at meetings throughout the year.

4. Help determine and advocate for reasonable staff salaries and benefits.

If the library is to offer meaningful and accessible services to the residents of your community, it must have a trained, certified library director and other capable assistants to provide those services. To attract capable employees, and to keep them once they are hired and oriented, it will be crucial that the library board offer reasonable and competitive compensation, including a meaningful wage and benefits like health insurance, retirement, sick leave, and vacation. By providing adequate compensation for staff, the library board will help the public generally to understand the importance of the library and the complexity of the tasks involved with providing good library services.

5. Assist in the hiring, supervising, and evaluating of the library director.

Though it is hopefully not a regular task, there may come a time when the library board must hire a new director. If this is required, deciding how the process is conducted and who is finally selected will be among the most important decisions a library board will ever make. A library director can be around for many years and have a significant impact on the tone and quality of library service. In the one-person library, the library director often becomes the personification of the entire institution. So it is important that this task be given serious consideration and that each trustee takes an active role in selecting and then welcoming and orienting the new director. Finally, in order to assure that you do not have to go through this process unnecessarily, the library board needs to establish a regular procedure and schedule for assessing the performance of the director and providing suggestions for improvements. Your willingness as a trustee to participate in these processes will greatly contribute to the library's overall effectiveness.

6. Study the needs and interests of the community and see that they are addressed, as appropriate, by the library.

As a community liaison, you are in a unique position to survey the community, learn of its needs and wants, and include those interests in discussions relating to library development. This opportunity and responsibility is satisfied at an informal and formal level. Informally, just being visible and accessible as a library trustee and communicating with your neighbors will allow you to gather important information about how the library can help its customers. In a more formal fashion, the library board may decide to conduct a community survey and/or call together a focus group to help it pinpoint important issues. Active participation by each trustee at both levels will be invaluable to the library's progress.

7. Act as an advocate for the library through contacts with civic groups and public officials.

Gathering information on community needs will certainly put you in contact with your community; the purpose of that activity is to focus development energies. Other kinds of contacts are also important, however, and their purpose will be to raise awareness of the library and promote its services. It has been written that the core of effective politics is the building of rapport. Since local politics are personal, your contacts on behalf of the library with county officials and the state will advance the cause of your institution. In the same way, building rapport and networking with civic and service groups will advance your cause with your customers and potential individual supporters. This is an area where an individual trustee can directly help the library in a significant way.

8. Become familiar with principles and issues relating to intellectual freedom and equitable provision of public library services.

Public libraries in our country and state are founded on the principle that for a democracy to function properly it must have an educated electorate, and to be educated, people must have free access to the broadest possible array of information. Libraries, along with other institutions such as the press and the judiciary, have long stood as protectors of the individual's right to have the information that he or she requires to thrive in and contribute to society. Regardless of these basic rights, though, sometimes people seek to limit the access of others to certain ideas and presentations. It is a responsibility of your library board, and each member of that board, to make a commitment to the community's freedom of inquiry and expression, and to be prepared to address calmly and respectfully the challenges that may come before you. While the board must have a carefully devised process for addressing challenges and speak in a single voice on censorship issues to the public and the media, it is up to you as a trustee to take the time to become informed about the principles and issues. While it is said that a public library without something to offend everyone is not doing its job, it is not the job of the library board to offend, but rather to defend the rights of each citizen to search for the truth through his or her own journey. The nation's and the library's future relies on unrestricted access to information.

9. Assist in the formulation and adoption of a long-range plan for the library.

Periodically review and revise long-range plan. Working through the budget process, developing policies, and studying community needs and making contacts with individuals and groups prepares you for the valuable process of formulating plans for the library's future. Your library may be accomplishing great things already, but as the world changes, the library must change with it. Trustees, as the citizen representatives with detailed information about how the library functions, are in an ideal position to assist with planning. Your important role in planning will be to investigate, along with the library director, different planning options and then decide on the most appropriate process for your library. If additional resources are required to fulfill the plans, you can also help to establish the amount and identify sources. Finally, once proposed plans are approved by the full board, you can continue to participate by being active in the annual review of the library's plan, during which you can suggest revisions that will keep the library on course. A plan is a means to an end, and it will be the active participation of each trustee in the planning process that will offer ongoing strength and insight to the library board as it pursues its responsibility for library development.

10. Attend Washington Library Association conferences, regional system workshops, and other training opportunities in order to expand knowledge of effective leadership, and consider membership in the Washington Library Trustees Association.

As you have probably concluded by now, the library trustee's job is complex and demanding. At the same time, though, it can be stimulating and exceedingly rewarding. One way to maintain energy and enthusiasm, as well as to increase understanding of trusteeship, is to participate in the various opportunities for education that are available to trustees. Through your director or direct mailings, you should be regularly informed of upcoming seminars, workshops, and conferences. Another method for gaining insights and ideas and also a great way to rejuvenate the spirit and not feel alone in the challenges you face is to get involved in the state library trustee association. The network of friends that can be developed will keep you interested and vital; your participation in the association will strengthen the statewide library community, and that, in turn, will help your library as well.
